RULES AND REGULATIONS

When accepting accounts for collection NACM-Business Credit Services acts only as your agent and does not assume responsibility for the acts, omissions, neglect, or default of the correspondent, attorney or sub-agent to whom the account has been forwarded for collection or legal action. Forwarding of the account is done only upon approval by the client.

COMMISSIONS (fees): A 10% discount will be given off our posted prices for this special offer. (February 14, 2008) Will be charged in accordance with the type of account as classified—commercial or consumer. Commissions are deductible from payments received by the Association. Clients are invoiced for commissions due on payments made direct.

Accounts cannot be withdrawn after submission for collection without payment of full commission. In some circumstances, a withdrawal fee may be substituted for the commission fees. Commissions will be based on the date NACM-Business Credit Services receives notice that payment was received, regardless of whether notice is made by phone or mail.

Interest earned or accrued after assignment to NACM that may be collected, excluding public utility accounts, shall be retained by NACM Business Credit Services.
